Religions and Worldviews long-term plan (2025/26 and 2026/27)

Intent

Religions and Worldviews in our schools enables every child to flourish and to live life in all its fullness. (John 10:10). It helps educate for dignity and respect, encouraging all to live well together.

Such an approach is offered through a commitment to generous hospitality, being true to our underpinning faith, but with a deep respect for the integrity of other religious traditions (and world views) and for the religious freedom of each person.

The principal aim of Religions and Worldviews is to engage children by asking big questions about life in order to find out what people believe and what difference this makes to how they live, so that pupils can make sense of religion and worldviews, reflecting on their own ideas and ways of living.

Religions and Worldviews gives pupils a safe space to critically reflect on their own religious, spiritual and/or philosophical convictions.

Religions and Worldviews makes a significant contribution to pupils' academic and personal development. It also plays a key role in promoting social cohesion and the virtues of respect and empathy, which are important in our diverse society.

Implementation

We teach Religions and Worldviews according to the aims of the North Yorkshire Agreed Syllabus (2024-2029). This requires all pupils to learn from Christianity and the other 5 principal faiths in the UK: Islam, Hinduism, Sikhism, Buddhism and Judaism. Non-religious worldviews such as Humanism are also explored. The Christian element of the Religions and Worldviews curriculum is taught through the Understanding Christianity resource. World religions are taught through the RE Today agreed syllabus.

The Religions and Worldviews curriculum is delivered through aspirational teaching of the three types of knowledge (known as the pillars of progression): Substantive Knowledge: knowledge about various religious and non-religious traditions; Disciplinary knowledge (referred to as "ways of knowing" by OFSTED: pupils learn "how to know" about religion and non-religion; Personal knowledge: pupils build an awareness of their own presuppositions and values about the religious and non-religious traditions they study.

To enable children to critically reflect on and discuss their own religious, spiritual and / or philosophical convictions, children are taught to view Religions and Worldviews through the three lenses of Theology (believing), Philosophy (thinking) and Human / Social Sciences (living).

Impact

The Religions and Worldviews curriculum is designed to ensure that all learners are able to use their knowledge to succeed in life; implementing the principal aims of RE: learners are engaged in systematic enquiry into significant human questions, which Religion and Worldviews address; learners develop the understanding and skills needed to appreciate and appraise varied responses to these questions and learners are able to develop responses of their own.
